

The issue of the Green Jobs, which is at the top of the government's agenda in many industrialized countries, has become a key topic also here in Italy, gathering momentum thanks to the issuing of Italia 2020: programma di azioni per l'inclusione delle donne nel mercato del lavoro, presented on the first of December 2009 by the Minister of Equal Opportunities, Maria Rosaria Carfagna, and the Minister of Labour and Social Policies, Maurizio Sacconi.

The purpose of the WiRES project and this conference is to investigate the role of the social dialogue with the aim of increasing female employment rates, and improving working conditions in the field of renewable energies.
