Professional Skills

Legal skills: thanks to the university course and the various work experiences I have had, I have learnt the ability to move within the legal world relating to companies, starting from the perspective of company law and arriving at the regulatory framework relating to the world of work.

Relationship and public speaking skills: my experience as an information tutor and as an assistant in the Employment Law department was fundamental to broadening not only my knowledge of the subject, but also to better manage stressful contexts and speak effectively in public.

Skills in labour law: thanks to the Master's degree course and the Level II Master's degree obtained after graduation, I have been able to deepen my knowledge of both labour law and industrial relations, developing projects (theses, research, etc.) and studying their main and peculiar aspects.
