Professional Skills

Legal skills: thanks to my university studies I had the opportunity to understand the various dynamics of the various sectors of law. I have had a particular interest, since I enrolled at university, in the sector of labor law. In particular, in the influences and consequences of the use of technology within labor law, health and safety at work, industrial relations and the contractual qualification of the employment relationship. I discussed a thesis in labor law with a correlation in legal informatics entitled "The algorithmic employer: discrimination and consequences on workers' rights" with Professor Carlo Zoli as supervisor.

Through the experience of the curricular internship at Tribunale penale di Bologna sez. riesame, I had the opportunity to deepen my knowledge of criminal law, a branch of law certainly also inherent to the relationship of responsibility that binds the employer towards the worker.
